EFAA receives gift from Financial Abundance

Emergency Family Assistance Association (EFAA) received 250 copies of Financial Abundance Guide from Wayne Farlow, the author and founder of Financial Abundance, LLC. These books are being sent to EFAA's largest financial donors.

“Financial Abundance Guide was written by and donated to us by Wayne Farlow, a past Board member. It has a chapter entitled Generous Giving with Uncle Sam’s Support that provides nuts and bolts advice about making gifts to charities through a variety of mechanisms from Charitable Remainder Trusts to real estate. The book helps people understand some of the ways they can give to non profit organizations, such as EFAA, in ways that can also benefit the donor,” said Terry Benjamin, Executive Director of EFAA.

“I have been associated with EFAA for many years. They provide a wonderful service for the Boulder community and I wish to support them in any way possible. It was an honor to share my book on financial abundance with other EFAA supporters,” said Wayne Farlow, author of Financial Abundance Guide.

About Emergency Family Assistance Association

EFAA’s vision is to build a more caring community and a better future for families in crisis living in Boulder and Broomfield counties in Colorado. EFAA helps members of its community whose immediate needs for food, shelter and other basic necessities cannot adequately be met by other means. They support their efforts toward financial stability or self-sufficiency. EFAA uses a partnership model in all of its activities and programs, believing that each person brings unique knowledge, skills and experiences that increase the effectiveness of their work.
